

Lane Departure Warning System

A dark tunnel with a bright light at the end, casting a beam of light down a road. The light is very bright and creates a strong lens flare effect. The road is dark and has white lines on the sides. The walls of the tunnel are dark and textured.

Getting Off Course

A dark road at night, illuminated by a central light source, possibly a tunnel or a narrow canyon. The light creates a bright path down the center of the road, with the walls of the tunnel or canyon visible on either side. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and dramatic.
